From: Financial Times Briefing <FT@emailbriefings.ft.com>
To: ehbarak1@gmail.com
CC:
Date: Wed, 10/28/2015 8:29:51 AM
Subject: In today's FT: Thousands of IDs forsale on dark web, Shell takes $...

To view this email as a webpage, click here

Wednesday October 28 2015

UK HOMEPAGE

Thousands of IDs for sale on dark web

More than 600,000 Britons had data stolen from companies last year

Shell takes $2bn hit on Canada project

Carmon Creek scheme axed partly due to pipeline shortage

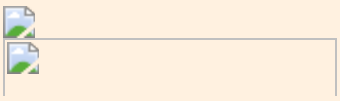
Lords defeat triggers look at budget surplus target

Cameron moves to reinforce MPs' supremacy

VIDEO

Lex on BP's cost cutting

BP has become the latest energy group to announce spending cuts for the years ahead, amid a sustained oil price slump. Lex's Robert Armstrong and Alan Livsey discuss whether BP can still grow amid the cuts.



US HOMEPAGE

Northrop wins $80bn US bomber contract

Coup over Boeing and Lockheed for nation's most important military project in a decade

Apple promises blooming iPhone sales

Profit rise of 31% to $11bn in latest quarter as China holds up better than expected

AB InBev eyes asset sale to seal SAB deal

Bankers hired as deadline for £68bn tie-up is extended

EUROPE HOMEPAGE

Slovenia considers call for EU military aid

Invoking ‘solidarity clause’ would trigger request over migrants

Nervous investors pay to lend to Italy

Negative-yielding bonds symptom of fear for global economy

US to step up air strikes on Isis oilfields

Pentagon proposes ‘more aggressive’ tactics in Syria against jihadis’ financial foundations

ASIA HOMEPAGE

China: It’s the five-year plan, man

Xinhua breaks the mould with a groovy propaganda video explaining the Communist party plenum

Facebook goes slow with ‘2G Tuesdays’

Staff urged to experience low-speed internet common in emerging markets

Goldman picks Silicon Valley winners

Top investment bankers shuttle coast to coast to catch tech money wave

WORLD NEWS

Senate passes bill to help tackle hackers

Legal framework will allow companies and US government to swap data about cyber threats

First Russian soldier dies in Syria

Confirmed casualty among estimated 2,000 personnel involved in air strikes

Turkey takes legal action against Gazprom

Deal signed last December envisaged a discount for 2015 gas supplies

Honeysuckle sees China solar sector bloom

Hairy crabs, crops grown beneath panels to navigate land use rules

Russia rises in 'Doing Business' rankings

Report gives big emerging nations vote of confidence

COMPANIES NEWS

Walgreens to buy Rite Aid for $17.2bn

Stefano Pessina seeks to create global pharmacy chain

IBM nears $2bn deal for Weather Co unit

Tech group wants to merge forecasting business with its own division

Nissan opts for AI to log drivers' tastes

Japanese groups step up push to commercialise self-driving cars

Twitter shares sink on slow user growth

Messaging group's outlook for fourth quarter misses expectations

Steel sector demands urgent action

Lobby group tells parliamentary committee that industry is in critical state

MARKETS

Asia traders review policy bets post-data

Burst of mixed numbers call into question further imminent easing in Japan and Australia

Sri Lanka plans bond despite fiscal gloom

Yield on 10-year issue expected at 7% to reflect credit conditions

Do not rule out a run on sterling

Causes of UK current account deficit also make pound vulnerable

Euro hits seven-week low against yen

Outlook for looser Bank of Japan policy offers little respite for Europe's shared currency

US natural gas at lowest level since 2012

Prospect of mild winter and record stocks put pressure on producers

COMMENT

The upside of addressing climate change

Moving to a credible path away from disaster is imaginable and economically beneficial

TalkTalk attack made worse by loose talk

Company failed to make sense of misfortune inflicted on its customers, writes Misha Glenny

Savour the bacon or relish the hysteria

If you seek sensible advice on what to eat, it will be everything in moderation, writes Tim Hayward

The power of Britain's lordly opposition

The unelected upper chamber shows its muscle over tax credits vote, writes Vernon Bogdanor

Stealth would have spared Osborne defeat

When dealing with the finances of people who live from week to week, change must be gradual

MANAGEMENT

Paddy Cosgrave: master of the revels

The feted founder of an event that helped brand Dublin as a tech hub feels under-appreciated at home

Childcare issue may have harmed career

I wonder if I should have taken my toddler to work rather than cancel an important meeting

Amateurs beat experts in predicting tech

Unqualified geeks can do well at futurology, as a 1989 book shows

Manage email | Forward this email

Feedback | Manage portfolio

Subscribe to the FT

Follow the FT

Unsubscribe | My Account | RSS | Privacy Policy | About Us | Help

© THE FINANCIAL TIMES LTD 2015

You have received this email because you have signed up from the NBE preference page.
This email was sent by a company owned by Pearson plc, registered office at 80 Strand, London WC2R 0RL.
Registered in England and Wales with company number 53723.